wexed good-nature, strennous patience, siry, light-bearted, honest feeling, and talent for blarney that long ago combined to make him a favorite delineator of the frish peasant character. The use of incidents, characters, and a plot that have become backneyed makes "The Fairy Circle" a little tedious now, to the old play-goer; yet it is a play that gives good results of clever invention, and there is a blending in it of Irish superstition, romance, tan, and wild absurdity that inests it with a charm, to fresh and non-exacting minds. Better acting than that of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, in the scene of Moleshee's mystidestion about old Blake's will-acting as indicative of character and of curious processes of mental effort in bright minds temporarily puzzled-is seldom seen. The skill to express comic perplexity has always been regarded as a brilliant power in a comedian: Mr. Williams possesses it in singular fullness and flacness. "Customs of the Country" was given as an after-piece, and Mrs. Williams once more presented that Yankee girl who has no prototype in life, but who must have her share of nature—since an actual woman assumes the identity-and who never fails to set the populace on a roar. The influence exerted by Mr. and Mrs. Williams is wholesome and kindly; and we perceive with honest satisfaction that they retain the public rearri, and have not been left behind in the flight of time and the race for new shrines of popular FREDERIC MACCABE.

Mr. Maccabe, who will appear at Steinway Hall on Wednesday evening, has long been distinguished In London as a mimie, a ventriloquist, and a delineator of character. He acts, sing , composes songs, delivers original diatogue, and furnishes an entertainment of the kind first made known and popular by the elder Mathews. His reputation has been fairly earned, and it is not to be doubted that his entertainment-entitled "Begone Dall Care"-will reward attention and justify a kind welcome.

OLYMPIC THEATER VARIETIES. The Olympic Theater last night presented ar elaborate variety till, comprising burlesque, comi-opera, ballet, spectacle, and minstrelsy. "Lucrezi Borgia, M. D.," and "The Grand Duchess" were th chief pieces. This house seems well entitled to the ran of the leading variety theater of the city.

NIBLO'S THEATER-CHANGES IN THE DELUGE. In Niblo's Theater last night "The Deluge" was presented in three acts and with new accessories. Mile. Betty Runnelsberg, a new dancer, made her first appearance. The Ulm Sisters were likewise seen here for the first time; and a laughable novelty, from Lon-don, called "The Octapus and the Tartle," was displayed, with comic off et.

POLITICAL NOTES.

As a campaign war cry the Southern outrage business has proved a very bad failure. The people refuse to make fools of themselves by getting excited over it. Can't the Administration organs start some-

One of the speakers at the Democratic mass meeting in Boston, Saturday evening, Mr. Charles Levi Woodbury, made the startling announcement that there was in the State a "party of stay-at-home Re publicans, who are constantly sitting on the shirt-tail of progress and shouling 'whoa.'" Rather undignified ogress and

Who would have thought it! The same William A. Simmons, whom the Massachusetts Repubtionn State Convention of 1873 asked the President to 'remove forthwith." and whom a party of most respectable Boston Republicans beaded by Mr. John M. Forbes went to Wasnington to protest against, now has his name first on the list of the new Republican Executive Committee of Massaconsetts. Gov. C. K. Davis of Minnesota is giving Senator Ramsey a hard fight for the United States Senatorship. Mr. Ramsey gained a slight advantage the her day by carrying in his favor the primaries in Ramser County, in which the City of St. Paul is situated. The Republicans of Freeborn County have instructed their Senator and R-presentative to vote for Davis, and he has similar support in many other parts of the State.

Senator Carpenter's organ, The Milwaukee Sentinel, is extremely auxious that the Senatorial queschosen. Let us first secure a Republican Legislature, it says, and then we can decide who is the best man for Senator. The phase of the contest which is particularly distasteful to the Scuator's friends is, doubless, the action of many Republican primaries in instructing their dolegates to oppose Carpenter " every time." Ex-Auditor McIlrath of Minnesota, although embarrassed with 26 indictments from the Grand Jury, is ous charge against him, that of defrauding the State Treasury and embezzling large sums of public money. The St. Paul Press says the Grand Jury spent several weeks in a rigil investigation of the main charge, but were unable to find any proof of Mr. Mclirath's guilt. The 26 indictments are all for alleged technical offenses, which are said to be of small account.

Here is a man who evidently has a just appreciation of the value of the promises made by Congressional aspirants. His name is Magilder, and he tives in Colorado. Desiring to go to Congress, he announces in a card to the public what he can do for his constituents: " I promise to have a switch put in at the myself to produce rain whenever needed, thereby avoiding the necessity of irrigation; I will banish the grasshoppers from our land, and render the Eldorado of the West a Guiden of Elen; I will work for nothing and board myself."

Congressman James B. Beck of Kentucky has written a long letter on the Louisiana troubles, charging that "Kellogg's usurpation and Durell's deon was not only fostened and encouraged by the President and his Attorney-General, who is simply his man 'Friday,' the convenient tool of his master, but man 'Friday,' the convenient tool of his master, but was arranged and dictated by the President, who is and ought to be held responsible before the American people for all the evils which have followed." Mr. Beck says he hopes to prove these assertions to be true beyond all peradventure by a plain recital of facts and dates, on the floor of Congress this Winter.

This is the way The Cincinnati Commercial frees its mind on the third term question: "In our judgment the President will presently find occasion to say that it will not do. It is true that he is surrounded by flatterers, but he does not lack understanding, and cannot fail to see that the better classes of people will object to giving him, or any one, a third term, and that it would be desperate folly to stake his prestige and his it would be desperate folly to stake his prestige and his giory, in a strucgle that must be vain if the American Kepublic is not as demoralized and precarious as that of France. Heretofore, since the beginning of the seces-sion troubles, the feelishness of the Democratic party has exceeded all competition, but the third term pro-dect, made serious by the Republicans, would surpass all the copperhead and copperbottomed follies of the times."

OBITUARY.

BISHOP M'FARLAND. The Right Rev. Francis Patrick McFarland, Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Hartford, embracing the State of Connecticut, died last evening at Hartford. He was 56 years old and was born at Franklin, Penn. He was educated at St. Mary's College, at Emmettsburg, Md., and ordained priest in 1845. He labored in Watertown and Utica, N. Y., until he was consecrated Bishop of Hartford, in 1848. His residence was in Providence until 1872, when the new Diocese of Providence until 1872, when the new Diocese of Providence was created, and Bishop McFarland went to Hartford, where he made friends among all sects. He erected a convent and Episcopal residence, and had made plans for a grand cathedral. He had been in falling health for about a year, and his death finally resulted from ulceration of the bowels. The funeral will take place on Thursday, at 16 o'clock a. in.

WILL MORTON REBEL?

CREPORT THAT HE HAS DENOUNCED GRANT'S ADMIN-ISTRATION AS THE WORST THE NATION HAS BEEN CURSED WITH DURING ITS HISTORY.

From The Chicago Tribune, Oct. 10.

A well-informed correspondent at Indianapolis wrote a letter to The Tribune a few days ago, in which he reviewed the political situation in that State, and gave the particulars of a secret meeting of the Republican leaders in Indianapolis. He further added the and gave the particulars of a secret meeting of the Republican leaders in Indianapotis. He further added the following statement:

In the same rein with the feeling that produced the secret Republican meeting of last night, is a talk currently reported with a leading Republican member of Congress, a man who has sood at the very ninnels of intence in the party, and whose name is a synonym for incorruptibility. He freely conceased the opinion that the State was very doubtful, and that he would not be surprised in the least at a perfect Waterloo on Tuesday in the Preports the disaffection throughout the agriculturated reports the disaffection throughout the Agriculturated reports and prepared the property of the Republican party. This Congressions asid we should be surprised and overwhelmed at the second that would come in from the counter. As for himself, he was reported that would come in from the counter. As for himself, he was record that would come in from the counter. As for himself, he was two during the number of the counter with the worst Administration, during the number of the counter with the worst Administration, during the number of the counter as a candidate, and also that was a top of the third term, he believed Grant to be a candidate, and also that was a top of the counter and also that was a top of the counter and the second that we was stronger than either of the existing price; that the only was to defeat him would be by a people's novement, and by a people's condidefeat him would be by a people's nevenient, and by a people's candidate.

We have other information which confirms this statement, and which adds that the mains of the member of Congress "who has stood at the very pinnacle of infinence in the party" is none other than O. P. Morton. We have every reason to believe that Mr. Morton was with a great difficulty restrained from opening the campaign in Indiana with a general and specific denunciation of the President, and from making the fight in the State on the ground of open hostility to the Administration. If the result of the election on Thesday next shall verify the present melanonly expectations of the Republican leaders in Indiana, then Mr. Morton's wisdom and fore-uselt well be vindicated.

THE MAYOR AND MR, KELLY

to the Secretary of State. I stated the source of my figures, and they are there stated as I gave them; but it appears that the Secretary of State made a mistake, and that the number Kelly pretended to report was 120,399. Kelly's display of figures upon this point is the merest trafling. The charge he has to meet is, not that he omitted to report enough convictions, but that the reports be did make were false and worthless.

2. That in my letter to him I did not attach enough importance to the convictions in the Police Courts. It is true that I did not. Having had but very slight opportunities for personal observation of the proceedings in these Courts, and only such knowledge, in respect to their business, as I and gathered from the newspapers, and the cursory examination, from time to time, of public documents, I had an underestimate of the numbers brought before them by vice and infirmity. But Keily's reports were so worthless that even my error in this respect was of no consequence.

MANUFACTURED STATISTICS.

MANUFACTURED STATISTICS.

In my letter to Kelly I characterized his reports of convictions to the Secretary of State (except for the courts of record, in which cases he gave the names) as manufactured statistics," and I am going to show that I described them correctly. It is a very singular circomstance that the records of the Police Courts for the Second and Third Districts have been so mutilated that it is impossible to make a comparison of Kelly's pre-tended reports with the records of convictions. I have no evidence that Kelly had any participation in the outno evidence that Kelly had any participation in the out-rage, and I would not be so unjust as to insinuate that he had. I mention the fact I have stated merely to explain whe such a comparison is not made. For only one complete month (October, 1866) during his two terms of effice is such a comparison now possible. For that month K-lly reported the convictions in the Special Bessions, including the Police Courts, as 595 males and 772 females—total, 1,377. The records of the courts give the following results:

| d      | OCTOBER, 1866. NUMBERS CONVICTED. Committee Conviction  |  |   |                   |  |
| n o    | Special Sessions. 228 Police Court, First District. 264 Police Court, Second District. 244 Police Court, Thard District. 101 Police Court, Fourth District. 122 | Females8037923414455 | Total.308642473245177 | 10922 |  |
| ek | Totals  | 891772                               | 1,357                                     | 25                |  |
|        | Differences   | 119was 364                           | 483below                              | the rig           |  |

Kelly's report for that mouth was 364 below the right number, as nearly as it can be ascertained. It is not clear whether the commitments to tage Commissioners of Charities and Correction were in all cases for examination or confinement. If any of them were for confinement, they would increase the disparity. The value of statistics depends upon accuracy, and is as much impaired by statements under the real number as by those over. Kelly's guess, therefore, is not helped by the fact that he guessed too low instead of too high. When I sent to the Secretary of State, the only reports of Kelly for the Special Sessions that could be found were for the years 1802, 1860, and the first ten months of 1866. I have since learned from the Secretary of State that those for 1861 have been found. I shall base the rest of my examination of his returns upon his original report for the year 1859.

SHARING IN A DIVISION.

I subjoin here a letter from H. F. Tainter (who was employed by Mr. Tilden to search out what disposition us made of the money obtained by the "Ring" frauds), by which it appears that part of the proceeds of one of the fraudulent bilis, paid under the celebrated "adjustment of claims" act, was traced by him into Kelly's bank account. It appears by Mr. Taintor's letter, that on the 12th and 16th of September, 1868, the bills above mentioned, amounting to $183,474.78, were paid to W. D. Res & Co., preacessors to T. W. Hoe & Co., who are under suit and indictment for gross frands against the county since perpetrated. Peter Moueghan, who was the partner of each of the Roe's, I am informed, is an intimate personal friend of John Kelly, and the same concern furnished the stationery and blank books for Kelly's office white he was Sheriff. Of the $183,474.78 trandulently paid as above stated, Moneghan, on the 12th and 17th of September, 1863, denosited $97,189.79 in the National City Bank, and on the 15th and 16th of September, 1868, Moneghan drew two checks, together amounting to $15,599.30, which were on the same days deposited to Kelly's credit in the National Shoe and Leather Bank, and were paid out of the part of the trandulent moneys so deposited to Moneys. bank account. It appears; by Mr. Taintor's letter, that National Shoe and Leather Bank, and were paid out of the part of the transculent moneys so deposited to Moneghan's credit in the National City Bank. Mr. Taintor is very charitacly disposed, and desired a copy of the letter to be sent to Keily for explanation. I can have no further correspondence with him, but leave him to make his explanation to the public. He will probably say, as Tweed said in respect to the money he received from Woodward, that it was in repayment of borrowed money. It is certain, however, that he appears with wonderful frequency in very bad company.

It have now performed a very important public service. I have shown beyond any possible dispute that John Kelly has committed the gross frauds with which I charged him. If in the face of such an exposure he can remain a recognized political leader, and associate with men of honorable character, I do not see how we can expect honesty in politics, or why the prison-doors can remain a recognized political leader, and associate with men of honorable character, I do not see how we can expect honesty in politics, or why the prison-doors should be shit on such men as Tweed and Ingersoil. In his defense Kelly speaks of my exposure of his frauds as prompted solely by revengeful feelings, and says I have cast "aspersions upon all who have been in any way concerned as complainants, counsel, or witnesses" in the complaints be made and procured to be made against me to the Governor. Not a word can be found in my letter to him reflecting upon Alderman Ottendorfer, Mr. Watrous, or Mr. Crosby and his legal associates for their participation in the charges. I regretted that they permitted themselves to be used by Kelly, but I said nothing to which any of them could possibly take exception. The persons whom I made the subject of censure were Kelly, and his man Wickham, and his counsel, Fellows, Wingate, and Chinton, and all that I said respecting each of them was strictly true. You cannot, fellow-citizens, fail to perceive that the subject of this letter is a public matter of great and pressing importance. Kelly and Morrissey claim, and are exercising the power to dictate to you your most important officers. They seek to own the men you elect to office as completely as Tweed and Sweeny owned them in their day. Kelly says that Wickham is his candidate for Mayor and Morrissey forced the nomination of Hayes for Register. You well know woat Morrissey is. I have shown you what Kelly is. Are you willing that these bower won won was Kelly is. Are you willing that these that Wickman is his candidate for Mayor and Morrissey forced the nomination of Hayes for Register. You well know what Morrissey is. I have shown you what Keliy is. Are you willing that these men should be your rulers! In a few months I shall be at liberty to enjoy the pleasures of private life. I shall have the pleasure refrection in my retirement that, by my exposure of the Irauds I have described in this letter, I have aided you, if you will make the necessary exertion, in securing a good local government. The danger is great. Your relief depends upon yourselves. If you will be equal to the emergency and vindicate the good name of our city, I will cheerfully endure all the annoyance that Kelly and his dependants can cause to me by hool suits or otherwise. W. F. HAVEMEYER.

JOHN KELLY'S REPLY. NOTHING NEW IN THE MAYOR'S SECOND STATEMENT -MR. WATERBURY DENOUNCED-THE SHOE AND LEATHER BANK TRANSACTION EASILY EXPLAINED. A TRIBUNE reporter called at Mr. Kelly's esidence last evening with a copy of the Mayor's statement. Mr. Kelly read it over, pausing now and then to laugh quietly at some passages in the long document. He at length laid it down and said, courteously: "I don't care about being 'interviewed' on this subject. I have already said in my former letter that I did not to reply to the villainous and infa-falseboods of the Mayor or his copartintend to reply to ner in wickedness, Waterbury, except in a way

Waterbury will have an opportunity aben of proving all they have stated in their letters. In the meantime I leave them both to the public execution which they have already received for their villatious a tacks upon

Being urged to reply to some of the specific cliegs tions made in the letter, Mr. Kelly again took up the document, and stopping at the paragraph relating to Watson's receipting bills for him, said: "I have no recollection of Watson's receipting any bills for me at the time referred to—the 30th of Jane and the 30th of September, 1860—and the case to which he refers of an extra bill for excise fees. It may be so. It was 14 years ago, and I have no distinct recollection of the fact. Watson was collector during my first term for three years, and when absent from the cityas it was likely I was on those two occasions-he may possibly have received those warrants and accepted the bills, but as my collector, and being so emimproper. It will be noticed in the same sentence he simply refers to those two bills and the Excise bills, and meaning me evidently by the construction of the sentence, and seeking to deceive a superficial reader into thinking that Watson collected the whole. Now, it is an undentable fact that Watson never receipted a bill for me during the time he was Auditor, or had be any knowledge of my bills wnatever unti they appeared before him in the regular way, after having been audited by the Board of Supervisors. What he says in relation to the law is merely a repeti tion of what he said before. The main charges which he makes against me in the second letter are simply a repetition of those in the first—only a transposition of phrases and figures. As to what he says about my being a candidate against Walsh, let me say that Mr. Waterbury, the gentleman who evidently wrote this letter for the Mayor, was the first man who breached this subject to me, of running for Congress against Walsh. Waterbury was exceedingly anxious to defeat Walsh in consequence of the abuse heaped upon him by Walsh. Mr. Waterbury knew perfectly well, that I was in the grate and fender business in Broome-st .-- and a very profitable business it was to meand that his importunities became so great that he offered to collect the whole amount of money to defray the expenses of my election if I would run against Walsh for Congress; and, in fact, he did collect between $500 and $600 in the postoffice to defray the election expenses at that time, having no other motive whatever except rancorous hatred of Walsh, conceived in the same way as that which he now evinces against myself-through political disappointment. The Mayor also repeats his coarse insinuation about my low beginning. Let me say to the Mayor that, though never having been "on the streets," but always having had a home, it was impossible for me to learn on the streets the vile, vituperative, low language

"But I have already permitted you," said Mr. Kelly, "to converse with me to a greater extent than I intended, and I shall leave both of these worthies to their own wicked consciences. I am per-fectly willing that the public should judge between us; and now that the Mayor has stated in his letter that his hatred toward myself has become less, and that his only object was to show the character of myself as a public official, without having either malice or hatred, let him continue his efforts of reform toward his friend and ally, and he will find in the Controller's office that Mr. Waterbury, as I stated in my former letter, has received large sums of money for virtually doing nothing, and that he will not find any moneys paid into the public treasury by the said Waterbury during the time that he was District-Attorney of this county. One sum, I have already ascertained which he collected from forfeited recognizances, amounted to $8,600, which he has never accounted for to this day; but I intend to show exactly the character of this man and his relative connection with everything connected with our city government. I shall wait until a further opportunity will enable me to present the entire facts."

tion to other matters. "Well," he replied, "I have already stated to tyou what I have to say-that the Mayor has faisified facts and figures in this letter, and I refer those who feel an interest in these matters to my letter addressed to the Mayor, as well fas his former which were on the same day deposited to Kelly's credit in the National Shoe and Leather Bank, 'paid out of the part of the fraudulent money so deposited to Moneghan's credit in the National Bank. How does the Mayor know that these moneys were paid out of what he eails "fraudulent" money paid to Peter Moneghan, Rowe & Co.! Why didn't he, if he were an hunorable high-minded man at heart, permit Mr. Taintor's letter to be sent to me that I might make some explanation in relation to these matters! Or way did he refer to them at all unless he intended to implicate me with what he calls "frauds" of Moneghan, Rowe & Co! Now, then, was it not due to me that Mr. Tainter—the "Detective of the Controller's office," as he is called—shound have called upon me and asked for some explanation himself! Cannot the public see the plain reason which actuated these men in attempting to make it appear that really I and connection with matters which they call frauds, when a five minutes' interview with unyself would have explained the whole matter! I would have explained the whole matter! and they make it appear that really I and connection with matters which they call frauds, when a five minutes' interview with unyself would have entertained toward me and given falsely to the public! But as I said before, the public yie to the public! But as I said before, the public yie to the public! But as I said before, the public winderstand Meyor Haveméyer and they understand Nelson J. Waterbury, and whatever may come from that source will have neither effect nor impression. Now then in relation to Peter Moneghan. In 1866 Peter Moneghan borrowed of me $15,000. He left in my possession bonds of the Union Pacific Railroad Company as collateral security for the payment of this loah. Mr. Cumings, Under Sheriff at that time, and James B. Price, clerk in my effice (both of whom are now employed by the present Sheriff are thoroughly familiar with this whole thing, Mr. Price made the record of those bonds in a book which I have in my possession; and t STATEMENT OF HENRY L. CLINTON.

Henry L. Clinton, counsel for John Kelly, when told that the Mayor's statement would be published this morning, said that what Mr. Havemeyer might publish would be a matter of no importance. Mr. Kelly's answer was a complete refutation of the original charges. The Mayor had no the original charges. The Mayor had no new scandals to make public, and could not sustain his original misstatements. Mr. Kelly had begun suits against the Mayor and the lawyer who had led him into his biunders, and these would be pushed vigorously as the shortest answer to the charges and the briefest method of justifying Mr. Kelly. Mr. Clinton added that he did not believe that there was another city or county official in New-York who, after a lapse of twelve or fifteen years was as well prepared with official records to establish his housesty in office as John Kelly. He had through a certain inclination to be very methodical saved every record of any importance while in office, and these strengthened his case and made his position impregnable.

The Charter election in Newark for city and ward officers will take place to-day between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. The preliminary registry for the State election also takes place to-day. The revision and final registry will be made on the 29th inst. In six of the wards the Democratic candidates for Aldermen are i have the matter tried (impartially before a jury. THE SOUTHERN REPUBLICAN CONVENTION. BETWEEN SEVENTY-FIVE AND ONE HUNDRED DELE-GATES ON THE GROUND-AN EXCITING CONTEST LIKELY TO TAKE PLACE ON THE CIVIL RIGHTS QUESTION-PROBABILITY THAT THE THIRD TERM

MOVEMENT WILL NOT BE DISCUSSED.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenp., Oct. 12.—The Arkansas delegation to the Convention of Carpet-Baggers. which is to assemble here to-morrow, is the only complete one that has yet arrived in Chattanooga-This, headed by Senators Clayton and Dorsey, and supported by Gov. Brooks and Judge McClure, arrived this morning and have been spending the most of the day in visiting Lookout Mountain and other points of interest. From other States there are from one to half a dozen delegates each, making in all, from seventy-five to one hundred. Louisiana is represented by Kellogg's Attorney-General, Field-Pinchback and his crowd will be here in the morning, Pinchback having telegraphed several days ago to have the best quarters in the city reserved for him. Georgia sends Col. Farrow, for a long time Attorney-General of the State, and once an unsuccessful contestant for a seat in the United States Senate. There are also delegates from Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina and Kentucky. Tennessee will be represented by about one hundred

The Arkansas delegation is unanimous in favor of a resolution favoring the passage of the Civil Rights bill, and brings also a long list of outrages "officially" reported. Brooks will also make a speech, probably setting forth his side of the late Baxter-Brooks fight in Arkansas. On the other hand, the Tennessee delegation will be almost a unit against any pronunciamiento on the question of Civil Rights, and will be supported by the majority of the delegates from the other Border States. If this question is brought into the Convention, as now seems inevitable, there will be an exciting time, as each side is determined to commit this body to an approval of its views. The conservative element in the Convention will make a struggle to control the temporary organization, and among the candidates for temporary Chairmanship who will be put forward by this faction are Gen. John T. Wilder of this city, and Col. Prosser of Nashville, ex-member of Congress. If this party should succeed, it is hoped that the Convention may be prevented from becoming the nedium for the dissemination of any more misinformation, to the material injury of the Southern States.

The third term men will probably have no standing in the Convention to-morrow, and it now looks as though that subject would not be mentioned. Every delegate who has thus far arrived brings with him a long speech, which he intends to read. If the Convention remains in session long enough to hear them all, nobody can tell when it will ad-

THE MASSACHUSETTS CANVASS.

GEN. BUTLER RENOMINATED-THE WORK OF THE CONVENTION A GOOD EXAMPLE OF BUTLERISM-A DISTRICT COMMITTEE APPOINTED CONSISTING LARGELY OF OFFICE-HOLDERS - THE ESSEX STATESMAN " POINTS WITH PRIDE" TO HIS CON-GRESSIONAL RECORD.

NEWBURYPORT, Oct. 12 .- The Convention in the Essex District to-day, even if it had not had Butler's speech to help it out, would have been such an illustration and example of Butlerism as Massachusetts never witnessed before. Gen. Butler had originally intended not to be present at the Convention, but the strength which he had developed changed his purpose, and it was early known that when he was cominated he would not be far off. Judge Carter of Bradford, whose name had been mentioned in connection with the nomination, an anti-Butler man, struck the key-note of the day when. in his speech on taking the Chair, he inveighed against the helinous sin of bolting. They had come up here under the caucus and convention system, and men who boited were either lacking in good sense or bursting with self-conceit. The great object was harmony, and the reasons for bolting should be cogent enough to justify a revolt against government. The wishes of the party Committee on Credentials was then appointed, with the Postmaster of Marbiehead as Chairman. There were several contesting delegations. In the first case, that of Danvers, the committee to coun votes had one member from each faction, and Butler men added 50 to his count, electing his ticket by 19 majority. No sooner had the meeting adjourned than the anti-Builer men counted the votes before witnesses for the Butler ticket and found them 59 short of the number returned, which was fifty more than the number of names checked. On this case the Committee reported in favor of the Butler delegation. In Rockport, ommittee found that because the Butler party cerats there and proceeded to throw out the delegates Of course, the Convention accepted the report. They afterwards invited the Rockport delegates to sit with the Convention, but they refused to vote.

The Convention then proceeded to choose a District Committee. The list, as reported, contained three officers in the Boston Custom-house, one Collector of Customs, and one postmaster. The Marblehead Postmaster, Mr. Knett V. Martin, then moved to add another Boston Custom-house officer and an Internal Revenue officer. This was carried, and then Mr. Martin was added, so that the District Committee now contains four officers in the Boston Custom-house, two postmasters, one Internal Revenue officer, and one Collector of Customs. When the vote was taken, seven members of the District Committee voted, all for Butler, and then they were ready to hear from him. Most of the anti-Butler delegates left the hall before the "conquering hero" came.

THE HON. D. W. GOOCH RENOMINATED IN THE FIFTH DISTRICT-THE NOMINEE URGES THE NECESSITY FOR HIS RE-ELECTION.

Boston, Oct. 12 .- The Vth District Republican Convention to-day did what 70 out of 98 of its members were pledged to do-renominated the Hon. D. W. Gooch. Mr. Bailey, the Senator from Charlestown, who withdrew from the canvass early in the fight, moved that Mr. Gooch be nominated by acclamation, but Mr. Bailey's zealous friends would not agree to that, and, though they were persuaded to give up having a ballot, they persistently shouted "no" to his motion. Mr. Gooch made a little speech of acceptance, in which he showed that he was very much of Gen. Butler's mind about the necessity of his being returned to Congress.

THE MUNICIPAL OUTLOOK. THE TAMMANY COUNTY TICKET CONSIDERED EX

CEEDINGLY WEAK-POSSIBILITY OF A COMBINA-TION OF ALL OTHER ELEMENTS IN OPPOSITION. The dissatisfaction with the Tammany ticket within the ranks of the Democracy, instead of growing less, as was predicted by the friends of the candidates, seems to be increasing. With the candidate for Mayor there seems to be no fault found, except that he might be a stronger man. It is conceded ithat Mr. Wickham's reputation is good, but it is urged against him that he has not been sufficiently prominent in public affairs to warrant his nomination for the highest municipal office in the gift of the people. Whil he makes a very respectable candidate, he does not add weight to the ticket. The nomination of James Hayes gives offense to the better class of Democrats. Mr. Hayes's record is held to be exceedingly bad. His votes while in the Board of Councilmen and afterward in the Board of Supervisors proved, his opponents affirm, that he was in full accord with Tweed. He joined the Young Democracy in their efforts to overthrow Tweed and the members of the old Ring merely to seize the power which they were wielding, and with no intention of aiding the cause of Reform. The fact that he was championed by John Morrissey in his endeavor to secure the nomination for Register had given great offense to the better class of Democrats who say that this alone, when it is made known throughout the State, will materially injure the Democratic State ticket. Shrewd Democratic politicians say that it will cause a loss of from 15,000 to 20,000 Democratic votes in the several districts. It has also, they say, materially injured the good name of Tammany Hall. Country Democrats cannot be made to believe that Tammany Hall is the exponent of Reformed Democracy, when John Morrissey can dictate the second name on the country ticket. The candidates for Aldermen at Large are not such as to strengthen the ticket. The Germans do not accept the nomination of two of their number for those positions as equivalent to the nomination for Register, nor are the numbers accepted as representative man by ticians say that it will cause a loss of from 15,000 to the mass of the German voters. Mr. Cole, it is also alloged, does not represent any considerable portion of the Irish voters, and what influence secured his nomination is what no one has yet been able to ascertain nation is what no one has yet been able to ascertain.

Mr. Lewis, it is understood, was placed on the ticket for the purpose of giving representation to the Hebrew population of the city. The fact remains that no distinctive American appears among the nominees for Alderman at large, and this has been very unfavorably commented on.

The Republicans have as yet taken no active measures toward a consolidation of the organizations outside of Tammany Hall on one ticket. The Republican County Convention meets on Tuesday evening, Oct. 20, so that there yet remains a week to canvass the matter. A consultation of a few of the prominent Republican leaders in this city was held last evening at the Fifth Ave-ue Hotel. Among the subjects discussed was the possibility of defeating the Tammany ticket by a combination of the opposition. There was a very strong disposition on the part of the shrewder politicians to do anything that would compass the defeat of Tammany Hall. There were some, hewever, woo thought that a straight Republican ticket could be elected.

The Liberal Republican leaders have held consultathe defeat of Tammany Hall. There were some, however, who thought that a straight Republican ticket could be elected.

The Liberal Republican leaders have held consultations with Individual members of the German Reform organizations, the dissatisfied Democrats, and the Council of Political Reform. All agree that the nominations of Tammany Hall are unwise, and they pledge the hearty cooperation of their organizations to measures for the nomination of a ticket composed of men who will represent the better portion of the voters of the metropolis. There will be held during the present week meetings of the Conference Committees appointed by the various organizations, and the outline of the proposed plan of action will be agreed upon.

A TRIBUNE reporter called last evening on Nelson J. Wateroury, who is publicly identified with the movement sgainst the present Tammany Hall nominations. He stated that the Tammany ticket was sure to be defeated, as there would undoubtedly be an opposition ticket acceptable to the Republicans and to the Democratic opponents of John Kelly and John Morrissey Hs said that a meeting would be held this evening of prominent men representing the different organizations to consult as to the best way to get such a ticket before the people. He thought that a public meeting would probably be called at Cooper Institute, possibly for Saturday of this week, but certainly not later than next Monday.

DISATISFACTION AMONG GERMANS. THE TAMMANY COUNTY TICKET NOT POPULAR ON THE EAST SIDE.

The Independent German Democratic Association of the Xth Assembly District held a regular meet ing last evening at No. 132 Third-st. with Herman Arudt, President, in the chair. The Tammany nominations were considered. Henry (Aronson stated that he though the German voters were generally of the same opinion with himself in the expression of dissatisfaction with the candidates put forth by Tammany Hall. The nomination for Mayor had not pleased them; but the name o Hayes for Register was an insult to their judgment and ne did not believe that many Germans would vote for him, as his former record was not good. If an independent nomination should be made, he had no doubt that it would carry a large proportion of the Democratic vote; and, if good, might secure a Republican indorsement. Tae whole county ticket was any-thing but satisfactory, as it was too much after the style of the Tweed party. The speaker's remarks were greeted with applause, but final action was deferre until the next regular meeting, previous to which, it was stated, a mass meeting of German citizens would be held.

Tue German Veteran Independent Democratic Association of the VIIIth Assembly District was organized last evening at No. 134 Orchard-st., with Albert Hoffmann as President and Jacob Muller as Secretary. The President said that the principles upon which the Association had been organized were the selection of the best candidates for city and county officers, regardless of party nominations. The consideration of the Tammany nominations was laid over until next Friday even-

The German citizens of the VIIIth Assembly District held a mee ing last night at No. 73 Forsyth-st., Ch. Reike presiding. The Tammany nominations were discussed, and one or two of the speakers recommended that the whole ticket be accepted. The general feeling, however, seems to be strongly opposed to several of the candidates It was announced that a mass meeting would be held at Waithalia Hall next Friday evening, when the subject Walhalia Hall next Friday evening, was would be discussed.

The German citizens of the Vth Assembly District held a meeting at No. 78 Variok-st. last night for the purpose of organizang a new association. Mr. Hause was elected President, Mr. San Vice-President and Mr. A Hoppy Secretary, Immediately after organizing, a resolution was adopted recommending the nomination of Louis C. Brans for the Assembly. The officers of the meeting, who are strong Democrats, appeared to be satisfied with the Tammany nominations for the principal offices.

LOCAL POLITICAL NOTES. There are 78,000 voters in the County of Kings. The Registry law of Brooklyn was amended by the last session of the State Legislature, so that, instead of there being four days for the enrollment of electors in that city, this year there are only three. The first was Sept. 29, and on that day only 11,860 voters were regis tered. This is the second day of registering in Brook
